

Al Farrow

THE SACRAMENTO BEE

Second Saturday picks: Five artworks to check out at Sacramento's monthly free art walk

BY VICTORIA DALKEY SPECIAL TO THE BEE

MAY 08, 2019 02:40 AM, UPDATED MAY 08, 2019 02:40 AM

SF

248 Utah Street
SF, CA 94103
+ 415 399 1439

NY

313 W 14th Street 2F
New York, NY
By appointment only

WEB

www.cclarkgallery.com

Anthony Montanino's precise oil painting, "Rose Garden." ANTHONY MONTANINO

Marc Katano's "Swallow," a bold acrylic and ink drawing on irregular Nepalese paper which produces interesting and sometimes unpredictable effects, is one of a series of invented images of symbols or forms with no meaning beyond themselves at b sakata garo, 923 20th Street. (916) 447-4276.

- "Delta Life," a watercolor by Elaine Bowers, focuses on scenes of the Sacramento River Delta, "the beating heart" of California's water system, seen from riverbanks and levees. It's up in her solo show at Sparrow Gallery, 1021 R Street, First Floor. (916) 382-4894.

- Veteran Sacramento artist Anthony Montanino's precise oil painting, "Rose Garden," is included in his current show of local and regional landscapes at Tim Collom Gallery, 915 20th Street. (916) 849-8302.

- Al Farrow's intricate-yet-menacing assemblage featuring guns and gun parts, "Trigger Finger of Saint Guerro, #23" is included in a powerful "Gun Show" curated by Suzanne Adan at artspace1616, 1616 Del Paso Boulevard. (916) 849-1127.